8 0 2

Chapter 1 by Derek

This story, is a true story based in 1939 in Washington.

There once was one of the greatest parks in all of Washington, probably the center of the whole state, where there were family picnics and also many fun attractions. One of the most loved attraction was the mini train ride that went down into the ground and after 2 minutes would come back out. But there was one thing wrong with the train. There were sudden reports of the death of children right after they rode that ride. Because of this they shut down this park and after 67 years a team of investigators wanted to see this ride. They sent an IT guy in, with a camera taped in the front of the train. When the train came back the team couldn't believe there eyes.
